

Vanlife Phone Hotspot Script (2 min. explainer)

Scene	Narrative	Visual
1	Your project is due at 5:00, and you're just barely going to make it.	1. Title: Wifi for Vanlife 2. Person working on a laptop inside a conversion van (MS)
2	That is, until the campground's wifi goes out.	1. Image of symbol for "no wifi connection." (CS) 2. Quick zoom in and out, twice, as if the symbol is growing and shrinking.
3	You want the freedom of vanlife. But you also want reliable Wifi.	Split screen:  Left side: Person playing frisbee on the beach with conversion van in distance. (LS)  Right side: Person inside conversion van, watching a movie on a laptop. (MS)
4	You can have your own source of reliable high-speed Wifi in your home on the road.	Right side of previous scene now covers full screen, slight widening of shot.
5	In this video, we'll explain how to use your phone as a hotspot. This is a super-simple option that will work well for most vanlifers.	Cellphone in a person's hand. (CS)
6	To use your phone as a hotspot, check your mobile contract. Is it allowed? If it's not allowed, you might need to purchase an add-on to your plan.	Image of cellphone contract language regarding hotspots, with relevant section circled in red. (CS)  Text at bottom of screen: Look for "hotspot" or "tethering."
7	Check your data allowance. If you think you'll need more	Image of cellphone contract language regarding data limit,

8	Once you've checked on these two things and have your plan all set up for using your phone as a hotspot, all you need to do is turn on your phone's hotspot capability.	Person looking at a cellphone screen. (MS)
9	Open "settings" and find "hotspot." Depending on what phone you have, it also might be called "tethering." You may need to go into the "cellular" or "Wifi" submenu to find it.	Text reading: Here are some of the things the Wifi submenu might be called: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>● Cellular</li> <li>● Wifi</li> <li>● Connections</li> <li>● Network &amp; Internet</li> </ul>
10	Toggle the switch to "on."	Image of a hotspot switch toggled to the "on" position, circled in red. (CS)
11	The phone will generate a password for you	Image of a phone-generated password, circled in red. (CS)
12	Write this password down, because you'll need it later.	Person writing on a scrap of paper. (MS)
13	That's pretty much it!	Person looking happy, relieved, cellphone in hand. (LS)
14	When you're using a device that needs Wifi, just log in using your phone's network and the password you wrote down.	Person logging into a Wifi network on a laptop. (CS)
15	Now you're ready to work AND play out on the open road.	1. Person inside a conversion van playing a video game on a laptop. (MS)  Zoom out to: 2. Van parked at the beach.
